H. Reading Comprehension :Reading:

The economic and social changes of the past few decades have changed the European family. What was once normal—two parents, father employed, mother at home, stable financial situation—is now exceptional. Today, half of all marriages end in failure, and about half of all children spend several years in a single-parent family. Some mothers never marry again, some parents lose husband or wife through death and some single women and men adopt children. It means that they decide to raise other people's children. Single mothers are greater in number than single fathers.

A single-parent family is at a greater risk for such negative outcomes as decline in income, poverty, and behavioral problems. Most single parents find it difficult to meet all their financial duties. A decrease in income may require them to move the family to a less expensive home in a different neighborhood, transfer the children from one school to another, and spend less money on goods.

While the pressures on the single-parent family are great, problems do not always occur. If a single mother can manage the different tasks of taking care of her children and herself, her family can not only survive but also advance a lot.
